The Long EZ Build: The Long

The Long-EZ is a 2-place, single-engine, all-composite home-build airplane; designed by Burt Rutan. The following information is provided from my experience and on-going building process of the Long-EZ. My goal is to give a prospective Long-EZ builder the up-front information they need to get building.

One of the aviation records achieved by the Long EZ is an altitude record. A plans-built Long EZ with a regular and normally aspirated engine was able to achieve and maintain an altitude of over 35,000 feet. Although this record is impressive, the range ability of the Long EZ is a more often cited specification.
